DOURO

Our History

The history of the 100HECTARES wines begins in the early 70's

Back then the Brás and Cigarro family – developed its passion for the Douro region – making major investments in the purchase and renovation of properties located in the Baixo Corgo, one of the 3 sub-region of Douro, near Peso da Regua.

The estates of the family are the origin of their wines, and the production is made exclusively from grapes coming from their properties.

100|HECTARES

100HECTARES winery was named after its most striking asset: 100 hectares of vineyard

The Brás brothers choose this name in 2009 when they decided to start bottling the wines from the grapes produced in the 4 estates owned by the family for 3 generations.

Filipe & André Brás did not just received from their parents and grand-parents 100 hectares: the vineyards came tied with a continuous teaching of the virtues of hard work and the passion for Douro.

André & Filipe Brás remain directly in charge of each of their parcels, which makes them true VIGNERONS accountable for every grape they transform into wine .

Filigrana

Filigrana is Portuguese word for filigree, a delicate kind of jewellery metalwork, usually of gold or silver

In one of 100HECTARES vineyard the vines somehow looks like filigrana

Sousão

This black grape variety brings intense colour and incredible acidity, making it an absolute must to Vintage Port blend, which is the reason why it is rarely available on its own

Aged for 9 month in French oak barrel

It became our flagship from its first release in 2016.

It ages so well, yet nobody seems to be able to wait...

17% or 18% ???

At 17% or 18% you would expect wines from Douro Valley to be Port, but they are not fortified.

In other regions some wines with higher level of alcohol are made with grapes dried after the harvest (vins de paille).

But our 17% and 18% are made like the rest of the range. Except for the harvest, done later to reach maximum level of sugar, and for the yeast, chosen to be able to be still active at higher level of alcohol than usual.

The end result is a dry wine that deliver all the mighty Douro richness of a vintage Port without the sweetness

100HECTARES 18% 2018 was the first wine approved as DOC Douro by the IVPD at this strength. It won't be easy to repeat but hopefully we will be able to release the 17% in most vintages, following the success of the 3 first releases (2017/2018/2019)

AWARDS

We don't participate much in wine competitions, believing instead in investing the time and money in the vines, but when we occasionally do, the outcome is shiny:
